Common FSA Questions

▶ What documentation is required when submitting a claim?

The IRS requires the following: the name of person who received the service, the date of service, the cost, the providers information, and what services were rendered. This can usually be confirmed with the explanation of benefits and a detailed receipt.

▶ What are the best practices when submitting a claim?

Ask for detailed receipts from the provider. Hold on to all paperwork pertinent to amounts paid.

▶ Why has my FSA card been suspended?

The most common cause for suspension is missing supporting documentation. If supporting documentation has not been received within 30 days of an accrued expense, the relevant FSA account will be suspended. The account will stay suspended until documentation or repayment is rendered.

▶ Why is it important to use and check the portal and /or phone app?

Communication about claims, updates for the plan year, and other notices are sent through the portal and mobile app.

Common FSA Questions Continued

▶ Why do I have to submit documentation?

The FSA plan is a pretax benefit, with specific IRS regulations. The user of the benefit must provide documentation to substantiate that the purchase is FSA eligible.

▶ What is the time frame I have to submit my documentation?

30 Days from the date the claim is processed. Two receipt request are sent after 10 and 20 days respectively. If a receipt has not been received by 30 days, an overdue notice will be sent out and the benefit will be suspended until documentation or repayment is provided.

▶ Why can't I cover my Domestic Partner, we have lived together X years?

NM is not a common law marriage state. Domestic partners are not recognized as legal dependents. Eligible FSA users are the employee, their spouse, and children aged 26 and under.
